ARE WADING IN MUD

New Mexico Boys at Camp Hamilton
Wondering Where "God's Country"
Has Been Moved.

HEALTH OF COMMAND GOOD

Territorial Regiment Winning Golden Opinions
by their Proficiency in Drill and Soldierly Bearing—General News of the Camp.

The soldiers in Camp Hamilton are now slushing around in three inches of mud and wondering where the "God's country" that they read about has been moved to. It is a source of great wonder to the people of this section how the territorial boys manage to stand the hardships with so little sickness and suffering. The hospital record shows but 67 inmates from the territorial regiment, and only one death since coming here. Rheumatism is giving some of the boys a hard racket. Sergeant Guterman is on the "no duty" list and Frank Dettelbach and Richard Wilkenson are recovering from the effects of the climatic change. As a whole, the health and spirits of the command are good and so far above that of the other regiments here that there is no comparison.

The nights are extremely cold and the boys are eagerly awaiting the arrival of stoves and lumber for stockades. Colonel McCord returned today from Chicago, where he met President McKinley. It is said in camp that during their conversation the president remarked to Colonel McCord: "I am informed that you have the finest body of men in the service."

While the people of New Mexico, perhaps, never considered the regiment an especially good one, the boys size up here like a lot of giants with the other regiments. The "Big Four" has a sort of contempt for the "kid" regiments and their "kid" commanders.

The effects of the hard drilling at Whipple barracks and the superior intelligence of the officers are especially noticeable now. The boys expected to be outclassed by the well drilled national guardsmen in the volunteer service, but they find themselves in better condition than most of the eastern regiments.

Lieutenant Colonel Mitchell is making a record for himself in Camp Hamilton. He is the most military appearing person in the camp and is always cool and self possessed. The regiment has implicit confidence in him and responds to his commands as promptly as regulars would. The lieutenant colonel is responsible for bringing the regiment into prominence in such a short time.

The general feeling of Kentuckians was expressed to your correspondent by a lady who, with others, witnessed a dress parade of the territorials from her carriage. She said: "We were afraid of your boys when they passed us. They seemed so big, and stern and determined. Not one even glanced toward us or smiled when they passed. They looked as though they enlisted for business. Our boys are not a bit like them."

The lady was right. They "enlisted for business," and the discipline taught by competent officers has given them a stern realization of their duty and made soldiers of them.

Company G is forging into surprising prominence. It is the color company of the regiment, and the one called on for all distinctive service. The fact that the company occupies such an eminent position is due to the experience and capability of Captain Stover, the ability and untiring efforts of Lieutenant Catron and the discipline maintained by 1st Sergeant DeWitt Pearce.

The company was selected last Tuesday to assist one company from each other regiment in firing the queen's jubilee salute in honor of General Breckinridge. The ceremony was beautiful. A line of 450 blue coated soldiers, all dressed precisely alike, marched past the corps headquarters and formed in the darkness. When the order, "Commence firing," was given, the form of each man was alternately lighted by a flash of flame from the rifle muzzle. The volley firing was rendered like sudden claps of thunder and the noise was deafening. When the company returned to quarters Captain Stover complimented its members with the words: "Boys, you couldn't have done better if you had practiced it for six months."

A remark of that sort from Captain Stover means much, for he never commends anything unless it is perfect. A surprise was given the spectators yesterday when the various regiments marched in review before General Wilson, who relieved General Breckinridge of command that day. General Sanger passed judgment on the territorial regiment some time ago by informing a Cincinnati Enquirer reporter that they were "a lot of half drilled and half civilized people." The general had never seen the regiment and knew nothing about it. Yesterday was his first appearance in public "on parade." Several regiments passed in review before the territorials. When they came along each company stretched out three sets of fours longer than those of the other regiments. As company G passed the stand the order, "Port arms!" was executed as one instantaneous movement and the line was as straight as a die. The onlookers cheered and ladies clapped their hands and waved handkerchiefs. General Wilson turned to Sanger and inquired:

"What regiment is this?"

"First territorial, sir."

"Well, sir, it is a regiment of men and soldiers."

Today the territorial band was requested to play at a reception tendered by General Wilson.

If the reputation of the regiment continues to increase it will soon be as famous as some that participated in the battles of the late war. The southwest territories can well feel proud of their gift to the country. The boys are proving a great advertisement for New Mexico and Arizona and are causing many people to ask all manner of questions about the country that produces such vigorous and healthy specimens of humanity.

News reached camp this evening that the 12th New York, 3d Kentucky and 16th Indiana regiments have been ordered mustered out. It is now thought that the 1st territorial, 3d Mississippi and 2d Missouri will be sent home from Lexington some time in January or February.

BIG REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Bernalillo County's Republican Turnout Today Beats the Record—Successful Ticket Nominated.

Special to the New Mexican. Albuquerque, Oct. 26.—The biggest Republican convention ever held in this county assembled at the court house this morning. Hon. T. B. Catron, of Santa Fe, who is here on legal matters, was called upon for a speech and highly eulogized Hon. Pedro Perea. The convention endorsed the administration of President McKinley and the St. Louis platform, after which a strong ticket was nominated.

The principal candidates are: T. A. Pinal and Thomas Hughes for the council; Thomas S. Hubbell for sheriff; J. A. Summers for probate clerk; J. L. Perea for collector; F. A. Hubbell for school superintendent; and Jesus Ma. Sandoval for assessor.

Valencia Follows Suit. Los Lunas, Oct. 26.—Grand convention here today of Republicans. Utmost harmony prevailed. Colonel J. Frank Chavez was nominated for the council, Captain Roman A. Baca and Captain Max Luna for the house.

Miss Clark, stenographer, Catron's office.

MINOR CITY TOPICS.

The delegates who will represent the Republicans of precinct No. 9, San Ildefonso, in the convention tomorrow are Thomas Roubal, Alejandro Gonzales and Guillermo Quintana.

Up to today the number of voters registered in precinct No. 17 is 275. Saturday is the last day for registration, a fact the voters should bear in mind. The Santa Fe road is sending gangs of men from as far south as El Paso for work along the road through this territory. Fifteen men were shipped up to Las Vegas the other day.

The Democratic managers seem to be strongly in favor of nominating Francisco Gonzales y Baca for sheriff on the Democratic ticket. However, there may be lots of change between now and Saturday.

The Rio Grande river at El Paso has gone entirely dry, and yet General Mills and his speculative associates claim that the Rio Grande is a navigable stream at that point. There is some water at Las Cruces, but it is all taken out for irrigation ere reaching El Paso.

Captain Muller was intending to bring west several machetes and a Mauser rifle. But after handling the package over to the express office in New York, it disappeared, and the company's employees are suspected of having stolen it. The matter is being investigated.

The Democrats of Santa Fe held their primaries last night and selected the following delegates to the county convention, which will be held in this city Saturday, October 29: Precinct No. 3, Higinio Martinez, Eugenio Sena, Candelario Martinez, Rafael Trujillo, Miguel Gorman, George Marsh, Joaquin Martinez and Francisco Delgado; precinct No. 4, Chas. F. Easley, A. P. Hill, Pedro Quintana, Miguel Ortiz, Jose Ortiz y Baca, J. B. Sandoval, Estevan Baca and Marcus Gutierrez; precinct No. 17, J. S. Candelario, Francisco Gonzales y Baca, Pedro Sandoval, Genovevo Sandoval, Albert Call and John T. Patterson; precinct No. 18, Arthur Seligman, Ascencion Rael, Nemesio Armijo, A. B. Renehan and Nestor Rodriguez; alternates, Juan Sineros, Ramon Armijo, Ramon Lobato, Antonio Borrego and Anastasio Gonzales.

In precincts outside the city, the Republicans selected the following delegates to the county convention, to be held in Santa Fe tomorrow: No. 8, Galisteo, J. L. Madrid, Antonio J. Ortiz, Juan Ortiz, Anastasio Sandoval and Frank S. Leyba; No. 13, Morieta, Francisco Lopez and Thomas M. Bartlett; No. 12, Canoncito, the delegates are Matias Sandoval and Patricio Garcia.

The D. & R. G. brought in 15 cars last night with a double-header, the freight being flour, potatoes, grain, wagons, etc. The heavy traffic made the train two hours late. A large train went out this morning, and a heavy one will be in tonight.

It is claimed by the friends of Juan J. Ortiz that over 40 delegates in the Republican convention favor that gentleman for the nomination for school superintendent on the Republican ticket.

The following delegates to the Republican county convention were chosen in the Cerrillos precinct: F. P. Mitchell and Librado C. de Baca.

The candidate is abroad in the city. He is quite numerous.

GET FLESH.

Get Strength, Vigor, Clear Complexion and Good Digestion, Not by Patent Medicine, But in Nature's Own Way.

Any honest physician will tell you that there is but one way to get increased flesh; all the patent medicines and cod liver oils to the contrary notwithstanding. Nature has but one way to increase flesh, strength and vigor, mind and body, and that is through the stomach, by wholesome food, well digested. There is no reason or common sense in other methods whatever.

People are thin, run down, nervous, pale, and shaky in their nerves simply because their stomachs are weak.

They may not think they have dyspepsia, but the fact remains that they do not eat enough food, or what they eat is not quickly and properly digested, as it should be.

Dr. Harlandson says the reason is because the stomach lacks certain digestive acids and peptones, and deficient secretion of gastric juice.

Nature's remedy in such cases is to supply what the weak stomach lacks. There are several good preparations which will do this, but none so readily as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which are designed especially for all stomach troubles, and which cure all digestive weakness on the common sense plan of furnishing the digestive principles which the stomach lacks.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give perfect digestion. First effect is to increase the appetite and increased vigor, added flesh, pure blood and strength of nerve and muscle is the perfectly natural result.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest tonic known and will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. May be found at druggists at 50 cents for full sized package or direct by mail from Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

A MURDERER LOCATED.

Texas Authorities Discover a Much Wanted Murderer in New Mexico Penitentiary—Gerónimo Parra is His Name.

Gerónimo Parra, who is doing a term in the New Mexico penitentiary for cattle rustling, has been discovered to be the man wanted in El Paso county, Texas, for the last 10 years for the murder of Sergeant Charles Fusselman, of the Texas state rangers; and the Lone Star state authorities are preparing to secure possession of Gerónimo when released from prison here. The accused was sentenced February 9, 1894, from Las Cruces, to seven years imprisonment, which would make the date of release February 9, 1901. But by good behavior the prisoner was expected to get out November 9, 1898. However, Gerónimo has been behaving himself so badly that Warden Bergmann will keep him in confinement for some time yet, and is uncertain now when the prisoner will be released. Captain Hughes, of the troop of rangers stationed just outside of El Paso, was intending to come up for Gerónimo November 9, but the warden says he will not give the prisoner up, so it will do no good for Captain Hughes to make the trip.

The story of the Texas crime is as follows: Gerónimo Parra, in company with other outlaws, raided the ranch of a man named Burns, 12 miles north of El Paso, drove off his horses, stole his cattle and killed his favorite dog. He came to town and complained, and Sergeant Fusselman and Deputy Sheriff George Herold undertook to ride to the rendezvous of the thieves and make arrests. But they were ambushed by seven of the bandits and Fusselman was shot dead. Herold's horse was shot under him, but he managed to escape after wounding one of the thieves, who subsequently died at Fort Hancock, 50 miles east of El Paso. The rest of the gang escaped into Mexico, leaving seven of the stolen horses behind and that was the last heard of them until the other day, when it was learned that the chief of the gang, Gerónimo Parra, was doing a long term in the New Mexico penitentiary for cattle stealing.

It is merely a question of time before the Texas authorities get hold of the accused, and then he will be tried at El Paso, with George Herold as the principal witness.

This fort passed into the control of the Interior department while General McCook was in command of the department of Colorado. It was abandoned because of the concentration of troops of the regular army in the vicinity of the larger cities, and because the post was no longer necessary as a rendezvous for soldiers to keep the Indians in subjection.
